

Larry Walton

Larry Walton is a relatively new resident of Little Rock and a new member of Life Quest. He loves Arkansas – his native state – but lived in Palmetto, Florida for 35 years, married to his wife Cathy, a native Floridian. After Cathy lost her 17- year battle to cancer, Larry was reunited with the lady he was dating just prior to meeting Cathy – Brenda Scisson. Larry and Brenda got married in November, 2014 and live in west Little Rock.

Larry is a graduate of the University of Central Arkansas where he was all conference in football. He was a coach of football, basketball and tennis, following graduation from UCA. But his Arkansas claim to fame is tennis where he was the tennis professional and promoter of big-time tennis at Burns Park Tennis Center in North Little Rock for 13 years. Larry brought professional tennis tournaments to Burns Park and the famous Davis Cup matches of the United States verses Chili

While in Florida, Larry taught government, economics and law for 30 years. In his government class, he emphasized The Constitution. He estimates that he has taught 60 different courses (two per year) to 4,500 students. All students were required to read every word of the Constitution – which was the main textbook for his course. He still hears from students today who thank him for helping them understand The Republic of the United States.
